REMNANT NATIVE VEGETATION INVESTIGATION

The Remnant Native Vegetation Investigation began in July 2008, following a formal request to VEAC from the Minister for Environment and Climate Change. The terms of reference for the investigation are presented in the box on the right. The investigation area includes public land outside Victoria's 'largely intact' landscapes. Land (both public and private) outside largely-intact landscapes accounts for about 79 percent of the total area of Victoria.

A discussion paper was released for public comment on 28 June 2010, with a submission period ending on Monday 30 August 2010. Notice of preparation of a discussion paper was published on 28 June 2010 as required under section 21 of the Victorian Environmental Assessment Council Act 2001.

The work program for the 2009-2010 year included:

- establishing a Community Reference Group for the investigation (see page 10)
- conducting community and stakeholder workshops to identify major issues for the investigation
- finalising spatial analysis of native vegetation and patterns of fragmentation and connectivity on public and private land
- preparing material for the discussion paper and finalising publication.

The Community Reference Group (CRG) met four times during 2009-2010. With the assistance of the CRG, a series of regional workshops were conducted in six locations around Victoria during November and December 2009 to provide input to the development of the discussion paper: at Benalla, Bendigo, Hamilton, Traralgon, Mildura and Melbourne.

The Scientific Advisory Committee continued to provide advice throughout the year, but did not formally meet.

Expenditure, including salaries and on-costs, for the Remnant Native Vegetation Investigation for the 2009-2010 financial year was $555, 914.

The Terms of Reference for the Remnant Native Vegetation Investigation are contained in the following box:

TERMS OF REFERENCE

Pursuant to section 15 of the Victorian Environmental Assessment Council Act 2001 the Minister for Environment and Climate Change hereby requests the Council to carry out an investigation of remnant native vegetation on Crown land and public authority land outside of largely-intact landscapes* across Victoria to identify opportunities for ecological linkages.

The purposes of the investigation are to:

- a identify and evaluate the condition, values, resources and uses of these areas of remnant native vegetation and associated fauna outside largely intact landscapes;
- b assess these areas for their connectivity and contribution to sustainable landscapes in relation to climate change;
- c report on the contribution of these areas of remnant native vegetation to biodiversity conservation, recreation activities, community uses, commercial opportunities, services and utilities in the context of improving connectivity with largely-intact landscapes and freehold land; and
- d report on opportunities for management to achieve improved ecological connectivity.

In addition to the considerations specified in Section 18 of the VEAC Act, the Council must also take into consideration relevant State Government policies, programs, strategies and Ministerial Statements, and relevant regional programs, strategies and plans.

The Council is required to consult the community in accordance with the VEAC Act, to release a Discussion Paper, and to submit a Final Report on the results of its investigation. The Final Report must be submitted by March 2011.

* Largely-Intact landscapes have been defined for the purposes of Net Gain Accounting for the Native Vegetation Management Framework as 'contiguous areas of native vegetation greater than 20,000 ha, with high Landscape Context scores and Site Condition scores that are high (or if scores are not high, this is primarily due to natural or semi-natural disturbances)'.
 Originally March 2010.

METROPOLITAN MELBOURNE INVESTIGATION

The Metropolitan Melbourne Investigation began in July 2008, following a formal request to VEAC from the Minister for Environment and Climate Change. The investigation area comprises public land within 29 municipalities of metropolitan Melbourne. The terms of reference for the investigation are presented in the box on the right.

The work program for the 2009-2010 year included:

- compiling the public and open space databases for the investigation area
- project managing to completion six commissioned background reports to inform the discussion paper
- establishing a Community Reference Group for the investigation (see page 10)
- engaging with public authorities on their public land holdings and a range of issues relevant to the investigation
- preparing material for the Metropolitan Melbourne Investigation Discussion Paper, which is scheduled to be released in the second half of 2010.

The Community Reference Group met four times during 2009-2010, including one meeting with the Council. Three roundtables with public authority staff were held during the year on issues relevant to the investigation.

Expenditure, including salaries and on-costs, for the Metropolitan Melbourne Investigation for the 2009-2010 financial year was $634,752.

TERMS OF REFERENCE

Pursuant to section 15 of the Victorian Environmental Assessment Council Act 2001 the Minister for Environment and Climate Change hereby requests the Council to carry out an investigation of Crown land and public authority land in the cities constituting metropolitan Melbourne*, and the Shire of Cardinia.

The purposes of the metropolitan Melbourne investigation are to:

- a systematically identify and assess the uses, resources, condition, values and management of Crown land, and public authority land in metropolitan Melbourne;
- b assess values of Crown land, and public authority land for areas not committed to a specific use, and report on appropriate future uses relevant to Melbourne's liveability and natural values; and
- c report on the contribution of Crown land, and public authority land to Melbourne's liveability and opportunities for enhancement of this contribution.

In addition to the considerations specified in section 18 of the VEAC Act, the Council would need to take into account the following matters:

- relevant State Government policies, programs, strategies and Ministerial Statements relating to the use of open space in Melbourne, including Melbourne 2030 and Planning for all of Melbourne and Linking People & Spaces;
- public authority plans and strategies such as the Port Phillip Catchment Management Authority Regional Catchment Strategy and Native Vegetation Plan; and
- land required by transport and other utilities for their functions and appropriate access for social, recreational and community activities.

The Council is required to consult with the community in accordance with the VEAC Act, to release a Discussion Paper, and to submit a Final Report on the results of its investigation.

The Final Report must be submitted by May 2011 **.

* Cities of Banyule, Bayside, Boroondara, Brimbank, Casey, Dandenong, Darebin, Frankston, Glen Eira, Hobsons Bay, Hume, Kingston, Knox, Manningham, Maribyrnong, Maroondah, Melbourne, Melton, Monash, Moonee Valley, Moreland, Nillumbik, Port Phillip, Stonnington, Whitehorse, Whittlesea, Wyndham, Yarra, Melbourne Docklands.

 Originally May 2010.

OTHER ACTIVITIES

The Victorian Environmental Assessment Council continued with the following projects which were commenced by the Environment Conservation Council.

Land Conservation Council (LCC) / Environment Conservation Council (ECC) records project

VEAC and the former ECC and LCC have completed 36 investigations over more than 35 years. Those Government-approved recommendations of VEAC and its predecessors provide a framework for use and management of almost all public land across Victoria. Recommendations from these investigations have largely applied a consistent set of public land use categories, as appropriate to each investigation area, and adapted over time. DSE, Parks Victoria and others manage public land in accordance with the uses, and public land use boundaries, specified by past VEAC, ECC and LCC government-approved recommendations.

VEAC's website www.veac.vic.gov.au includes VEAC's and ECC's final reports and maps, and versions of all LCC final recommendation reports annotated for Government decisions. There are also recommendation maps for each LCC investigation, scanned as published. Further work has focused on the VEACRECS25 dataset.

Large-scale digital public land use mapping

Public land managers, other agencies using public land, local government, industry, consultants and other land users increasingly need large-scale (at least 1:25,000 scale) mapping of public land categories, to clarify boundaries and appropriate uses. The VEACRECS25 dataset provides accurate digital mapping of Government-approved VEAC, ECC, and LCC recommendations for such purposes.

For this project DSE staff initially compile information using the VicMap digital parcel layer. Provisional data has been compiled for 73,860 Crown land parcels, representing 96 per cent of such parcels in Victoria. VEAC staff validate and confirm or correct the public land use for each parcel, providing detailed boundaries using VEAC, ECC and LCC records and digital aerial imagery, as required.

The major focus this year has been to verify and publish public land use data for a substantial proportion of the remaining municipalities, with the aim of completing the VEACRECS25 dataset in 2010/2011. This year 15,763 public land parcels in Mount Alexander, Northern Grampians, Hepburn, Moyne, Colac-Otway, Corangamite, Glenelg and Wellington Shires have been checked and returned to DSE for processing and loading into the Department's MapShare Intranet website. In addition to these shires, data was published this year for the 29 Metropolitan Melbourne municipalities.

VEACRECS25 public land use data has now been completed for 49,824 parcels in 58 of Victoria's 79 municipalities, representing 65% of all Victorian Crown parcels. Amendments have also been processed to maintain the data. This mapping and associated data are available for all DSE staff.

ASSISTANCE TO COUNCIL

Council receives significant assistance from government departments and agencies, local government, private organisations, and from interested members of the community. This assistance has been an integral part of Council being able to meet its objectives for the past year.

The Council would also like to acknowledge the support it received during the year from its skilled and committed staff. The excellent reputation of VEAC and its predecessor bodies, the Land Conservation Council and the Environment Conservation Council, is very dependent on the knowledge and expertise of its staff. VEAC's investigation model has particular strengths in bringing together the best data and science and taking it to the community for input and discussion, before developing authoritative advice for Government. This is made possible through VEAC's specialist capabilities in areas such as spatial analysis and mapping, ecology, policy, community engagement and project management. All of these capabilities have been drawn on during the year in developing discussion papers for the Remnant Native Vegetation Investigation and the Metropolitan Melbourne Investigation.

Department of Sustainability and Environment units such as Human Resources, Finance, Occupational Health and Safety, and Information Systems have also provided support to Council and this support is gratefully acknowledged.
