Hello as a regular visitor and user of the Wombat Forest I feel my opinion on the touted National Park status for the Wombat State Forest needs to be amongst those considered.

I have visited the forest since my late teens and regularly do now with my young family.

We tour through the forest, do some prospecting, like to camp fish and occasionally I will hunt there as well. I don't need to collect firewood there but in winter we like to cook over open fires there as well.

ANY Park status will eliminate the reason for me to visit the region and Im sure it will discourage other regular visitors as well.

Park status will do nothing more to preserve the park. It will just appease the greedy few who want to preserve it for themselves.

Regards
