Dear VEAC, As a gold prospector and bush user, I write to you concerning the changes being proposing, which would affect my pastime activities, and the hobbies of many thousands of other's, to our detriment, and to that of the forests and wildlife contained within. I personally have taken much rubbish out of the bush and will continue to do so, along with repairing tracks and clearing access roads of fallen debris. However I fear if the proposed changes occur, that this is something I wont legally be allowed to do anymore. I know most others who use the bush as I do, are also concerned as it is us who keep the bush clean, for the benefit of ourselves and whoever follows, but more importantly, for the flora and fauna and general well being of our public land. This is something I do for free, without the need for recognition, and which frees up govt' funding to be used wherever else it may be needed. Just my presence in the bush deters others from doing the wrong thing, for example the dumping of rubbish and falling of trees illegally. Locking law abiding citizens like myself out, is just asking for trouble by way of allowing law breakers to carry on their illegal activities unchecked. Regards,
Danyel Drost
